

FROM POINTS AROUND.

(REPORTED SPECIALLY FOR THE STAR.)

LUDLOW, KY.—American Eagle Lodge of Odd-fellows and the Daughters of Rebekah gave their second social entertainment last Saturday evening, their beautiful and comfortable hall being tastefully arranged for the reception of the large and brilliant audience, chiefly composed of members of the order and their families. After several successful attempts at oratory, music was declared in order. Mrs. M. A. Grierson and the Misses Florence and Maggie Masten deserve special mention for the charming manner in which they rendered a number of popular songs, with melodious accompaniment. The "Closing Hymn" of the order finished the exercises, and the happy participants separated for their homes with nothing but the success of the affair on their lips, and many thanks for the pleasure it afforded them.

HAMILTON.—Business circles are considerably ruffled over the disclosure of a forgery committed last May by one Adam Utrich, formerly a German teacher in the public school, by which the Second National Bank was swindled out of $1,000 and which was not discovered until last Saturday. A dispatch was received from Detroit, Mich., informing the interested parties here that the forger had been arrested and would be held until proper officers arrived to take him in charge. President of the Bank, W. E. Brown, and Deputy Sheriff Thomas left Saturday for Detroit.

LEXINGTON, KY.—The indicting of sixteen magistrates by the Grand Jury has caused considerable excitement among the worthy functionaries. They, however, feel confident that the Court will be merciful with them in their sore afflictions.

The Gazette is of the opinion that the belligerent Judge, McManama, will yet come out "O. K." in his actions in the Southern railroad case, when, it is alleged, he threatened to stop the work by presenting his resignation.

In the Circuit Court, Friday, Alexander Young (colored), charged with arson, was sent to the Penitentiary for six years. The Phoenix Hotel is being internally embellished.

McWade makes his appearance in "Big Van Winkle" in this city next Wednesday.

The Grand Jury after retiring complimented Sheriff Cochran very highly for his general services during the recent term of the Criminal Court.

Dr. Hirschfeld has returned from a brief visit to Louisville.

BELLEVUE, KY.—The entertainment given by the Reading Club, Saturday evening, was a complete success in every particular. A larger and more select audience we have seldom witnessed in Bellevue. The entertainment was a large number of late comedians had to be turned away. The beautiful comedy of "Ghosts," followed by "Nan, the Good for Nothing," was read in a manner which reflects great credit on the Club. The reading of Mr. Harms and Mr. Stevens was excellent. Miss Blinn and Miss Selzer were equal to the occasion, and read their parts in good style. Mr. Matt Lyons, Mr. Furman, and Mr. Littlefield were also good and acquitted themselves admirably. Mr. Booth, as the "Drunkard Father," was excellent; and last, though not least, is Miss Belle Furman. Her reading was in a style that would reflect credit on a professional, and it is but just to say she carried off the honors of the evening.

COVINGTON.—Thomas Matlack has filed his petition in bankruptcy. Liabilities, $2,489; assets, $1,116 63; exemptions, $200.

The new bell clock of St. Paul's Lutheran church has arrived.

The unknown victim of the S. L. railroad accident has been identified as the body of Thomas Crumley, who lived at 87 East Seventh street, Covington, and was a man named Kour, who was drying gloves cleaned with benzine, at the corner of Riddle and Bank streets, had the misfortune to come too near a red hot stove, and burnt his hands badly.

In the case of J. B. Alexander against the Mayville and Lexington Railroad, the suit was confirmed. The Marshall put in a claim of $10,000—two per cent. on the amount of the claim.

W. J. Lykins was sentenced to $100 fine and thirty days' imprisonment.

The execution of the sentence, however, was suspended to allow him to leave the city. John Hengshold, drunk and disorderly, $4. John Grote, same, continued till to-morrow. Robert O'Connor, disorderly, $4. George Stokrod, drunk, same.

The taxes are still coming in slowly.

NEWPORT.—The Forty Hours Devotion began yesterday in the Corpus Christi Church.

Rev. Foster Ely, pastor of St. Paul's Church, preached his last sermon yesterday evening at the altar. He has accepted the restoration of Grace Church, Lockport, New York.

Gastwright, charged with the same offense, pays $2 and costs.

The case of the Commonwealth against Kelley and others was continued for one day, owing to the absence of important witnesses.

The "Lone Stars" give a masquerade this evening at Phillips Hall.

AGRICULTURAL.

It is well that cows go dry about three months before calving, as it enables them to gain much needed flesh.

A lady writes: Some imagine a "farmer's wife" need know little besides how to perform her daily labor; but if I were to lecture a country home, I should be a home, where taste for the ornamental, as well as the useful, has been displayed, and where the days proved long enough for the farmer's wife to cultivate the mind as well as the garden. I really can not imagine why a farmer and a farmer's wife can not have as lofty aspirations, as noble minds and as much refinement and education as a city man's wife. I firmly believe that more happiness and more enjoyment can be found in the country than in the city, if sought for.—[Germanstown Telegraph.]

COAL ASHES FOR PEAR TREES.

Coal ashes have a wonderful vitalizing effect upon pear trees, especially those growing in light soil. Our ashes of last winter were used around these trees in liberal quantities, and those thus treated have outgrown anything in the orchard. Some that were even sickly, and apparently ready to give up their hold on life, have been restored to perfect health by this remedy.—[Pensylvania News.]

HOW TO GET RID OF STUMPS.

General Colquitt, of Georgia, in a recent address, said: To remove stumps from a field, all that is necessary is to have one or more sheet-iron chimneys, some four or five feet high. Set fire to the stumps and place the chimneys over it, so that the fire will burn up the stumps. The stump will soon be consumed. With several such chimneys, of different sizes, the removal of stumps may be accomplished at merely nominal labor and expense.

FOWLS FOR THE FAMILY.

What folly it is to give away the material and then buy the manufactured article at the highest price! Yet this is one of the commonest instances of the want of economy. Many families, particularly in the smallest cities, throw all the scraps from the table into the swill-barrel, for the benefit of some lucky Celt, and then pay an extravagant price for stale eggs. The sensible plan is to keep a few fowls, and give your scraps to these, thus turning your refuse into money. Fowls can be kept in this way at a little or cost, supplying the family with breakfast eggs, and giving their keepers a delightful occupation, for there is great satisfaction in caring for a thrifty flock of handsome fowls, not merely for the grown folks, but also for the children, who will enter into the pursuit with the greatest zeal, and delight in watching all the various processes in the hen-house, the laying, the setting, the growth of the little chickens, and the interesting occupation of gathering the pearly, fresh-laid eggs.

SPRING LOSS OF STOCK.

Farmers should not compel their stock to run to pasture as long as they can get a mouthful to eat, and make themselves believe that they are doing justice to their stock, and saving an honest crib of corn, and bins of oats, but March winds and storms will convince them of their mistake, and, not beginning to feed in the fall and early winter, and feeding up their stock instead of letting it run down and getting almost too weak to get up, and then before they try to feed the stock, it will be too late. Two bushels of corn fed before the holidays to keep the stock thriving is better than five bushels when it is already reduced to skin and bones. Overfeeding poor stock will generally sour and weaken it. Stock, when it is found to be very weak, is generally covered and overfed. A good convention is worth a pound of cure. Thousands of heads of cattle are annually lost in the United States for the want of proper feed and shelter from our severe storms in the fall and early winter.

MAXIMS FOR FARMERS.

It is worth while for all farmers everywhere to remember that thorough culture is better than three mortgages on their farm.

That an offensive war against weeds is a less expensive than a defensive one.

That good fences always pay better than lawsuits with neighbors.

That hay is a great deal cheaper made in summer than purchased in winter.

That more stock perish from famine than from funder.

That a horse who lays his ears back and looks at you with a vicious, one, is a vicious animal. Don't you buy him.

The scurrying the feed of fattening hogs is a waste of grain.

That overfed hogs won't lay eggs.

That educating children properly is money lent at 10 per cent.

That one evening spent at home in study is more profitable than ten lounging about country taverns.

Wild Sports in Kentucky.

[From the Lexington Gazette.]

Rabbit hunting on horseback is quite fashionable this season, and we hear of large catches. A party of ten or twelve, mounted on gentle horses, go into a field and form in line ten or twenty feet apart, and with loud yells and laughter start one or more of the runners, and then the chase begins. The poor, frightened creatures soon become bewildered and squat down, when the riders jump off and pick them up. Some of our amateur friends were so hoarse last Saturday from hawking that they could hardly speak above a whisper when they came into our office. In this way thousands are destroyed in a season, and, besides furnishing a dish fit to eat before a king, their depredations upon fruit trees and other annoyances are much mitigated. B. F. Farra and party, of Jessamine, bagged seventy-four on Friday, and Allen Higgins and his party the same day "picked up" fifty-three.

by their swords; but prudent Sampson to compel the others to take the initiative, bites his thumb at them, "which is a disgrace if they bear it." Challenged with the words, "Die you bite your thumb at me, sir?" he replies, "No, sir, I did not bite my thumb at you, sir; but I bite my thumb!" and in a few minutes the fray begins. It was not absolutely necessary to put the thumb to the mouth. In 1291, a rude fellow was sent to prison for causing his contempt on the clerk of the Sheriff of London by raising his thumb and saying, "I spit, I spit!" In manifest contempt of our lord the King.

If one Neapolitan wishes to anger another, he places the palm of his right hand on the back of the left and shakes the crooked thumb, symbolical of donkey's ears, at him; a pleasant bit of pantomime, answering to the "taking a sign" popular elsewhere—a sign of contemptuous defiance said to be at least as old as ancient Assyria.

[To place the thumb on nose and gyrate the fingers is now a new garment off the same piece.]

A rather startling decision in railroad law is reported from Indiana. The United States District Court there has decided that the State may revoke a right of eminent domain granted to a railroad corporation and bestow it on another. Land condemned for motives of public policy and bestowed upon a railway may be given to another, if "public interest" requires. This seems to be a wide departure from the rule laid down in the Dartmouth College case, which is calculated to make the shade of Daniel Webster unhappy. But the Supreme Court may reverse the decision. If it is sustained, it makes every railroad a mere tenant-at-will of the State, and allows the latter to play fast-and-loose with contracts in what strikes the lay mind as a very unconstitutional manner.

A young lady fell dead while walking at a ball in Chelsea, the other evening. She had a heart disease.

LOCAL NEWS.

REUNION OF THE Ninety-sixth Regiment

O. V. I. at Richmond, O., January 11.

Burglars Hampan.

Three large wholesale houses, Nos. 134, 136 and 138 Race street, between Third and Fourth, east side, were entered by burglars and valuable goods abstracted, yesterday morning—how much is not yet ascertained. The victimized firms are Cohn Bros. & Co., Katzenberger, Goldsmith & Loeb, and James D. Smith. With the aid of ladders used by the workmen on the new four-story building north of those mentioned, the burglars ascended to the roof and entered by means of the skylight. They got away with their plunder, and no arrests have been made.

Sued for Libel.

The answers of Mayor Bugher, of Chicago, to the petitions filed against him by Mrs. G. W. Ross, charging him with libel, assault, and false imprisonment, were filed Saturday. The Mayor supplements his answers to the petitions by filing petitions in two other suits—against Mr. and Mrs. Ross, and the other against the Enquirer, the subject of the libels being the article which first appeared in the Enquirer in August last, giving an account of the transaction as it was claimed by the Ross party it had transpired. Eminent attorneys have been retained on both sides, and as they have gone right into the merits of the cases without unnecessary motions and demurrers, the public may soon expect a sensation only second to the Brooklyn scandal.

Still Another.

Mr. S. W. Bard writes a card in which he says that "The article which appeared in the Enquirer, of Saturday, with reference to the meeting of the Home Building Association, Friday night last, was a grossly sensational perversion of the proceedings of that meeting." And further, he states that "I have commenced proceedings which will give the Enquirer a complete opportunity to attempt to defend the libelous and derogatory character of their statements with reference to myself." He thinks he has been injured $25,000 worth, and sues for that amount.

The Music Hall.

Thirty-three incorporators attended the meeting of subscribers to the Music Hall Fund at the rooms of the Board of Trade Saturday evening. Mr. H. Wilson Brown, Secretary of the last meeting, reported that out of the fifty incorporators elected, forty-seven had either verbally or in writing signified their acceptance of the trust. The remaining three were Messrs. Wm. Henry Davis, John R. Wright, and W. W. Scarborough. It appearing Mr. Davis was not in this city, he was dropped, and the vacancy filled by the election of Mr. H. Wilson Brown.

It was decided to retain the name of Mr. Scarborough, who is now in Europe, as, previous to his departure, he had signified his willingness to act as an incorporator. As to Mr. Wright, who is now in Europe, it was stated that he would return to this city within a week, and would certainly accept the trust; his name, also, was retained.

Mr. T. D. Lincoln then read the articles of incorporation, as already published in the STAR on Thursday, which were signed by all the members present.

Court Outings.

John Mallory vs. James Bateman. Action to recover six inches of ground and damages. Verdict for plaintiff for one cent.

The case of Conrad Moonberg against Judge Marchant was up again Saturday. The Court granted a new trial on the ground that the jury did not seem to understand the case.

The case of the Franklin Bank vs. the Commercial Bank was held under advisement.

Melesa Sessler was appointed administratrix of John Sessler. Personality $2,000.

The Egner case was given to the jury Saturday afternoon. No verdict as yet.

Amusements.

To-night there will be presented at the Grand Opera-house the great spectacular drama by Adolph D'Enery, entitled "Around the World in Eighty Days," probably the greatest sensation of the day, having run no less than 460 nights in the City of Paris. There are few readers of the present day who have not become acquainted with the eccentric genius of Jules Verne, through his "Myrtos Islands," "A Trip to the Moon," and other works of the same order, and now comes the most complete and all-admiration by D'Enery, of his most popular work, "Around the World." The play will be under the direction of the Kiralfy Brothers, who, together with the great character dancers, the Kiralfy Sisters, will figure conspicuously in the cast.

The Kiralfy Sisters will be supported by Miss Dora Goldwhite and several other Eastern celebrities. We look for something extraordinary.

Across the way at Mr. Macanally's ever popular house, Mr. Joseph Proctor, one of the old school favorites, appears to-night in our city for the first time in the "Hibernian Song."

This is one of the few sensational plays that has lived beyond its second or third season, and though its author, Miss Medina, has not brought to it any great force either of positions or logic, Mr. Proctor has succeeded in making it a standard play, winning by it both fame and fortune for himself.

The National will not be without its list of attractions either. It presents, in addition to the variety programme, a new drama entitled "Crime."
